Barbara, I just heard about your husband's passing. I remember his insightful comments in Sunday School and him always being by your side. I am so sorry for your loss. I pray you will be filled with comfort and peace at this time and that you will be blessed with wonderful memories to sustain you.

Dear Barbara. It is with a heavy heart I write you today on the loss of your best friend and husband of many years. With him you had five wonderful children and all those grandchildren and great grandchildren. What joy you and Jerry had. And of course the memories of your life with him and your family will give you strength and love forever. Stay safe so we can meet again soon. All my sympathy, Jane
