It’s Valentine’s Day, and I want you to know how much I love you, Mom. I am forever grateful for all the love and kindness you shared with us. You taught us that there is beauty all around us, and if we look closely, we will always find it. That is the beautiful thing about the circle of life. Until we meet again.

After many years of working night shift together at AVH, learning from Anna how to knit the continental stitch, and enjoying each other's company outside of work, your mom still holds a very special place in my memories and in my heart. I am sad at her passing and happy that I had a slice of her time in her busy life. Goodbye my friend. Thanks for the wonderful memories.

I worked with Anna at Alta View Hospital when I was a pink lady. Anna was always so kind and welcoming. She was the first person I went to see when I clocked in. I have thought of her often and wish we could have connected again. I love this photo of her, this is how I remember her. My deepest condolences to her children and grandchildren.
