

Dr.Richard Gary Lambert

December 3, 1945 ~ March 17, 2025

We are so sorry to hear of Dick’s passing. It seems impossible that our years have brought us so far since medical school. We value Dick’s friendship in medicine and our association in a family neighborhood. Please accept our heartfelt sympathies. May you each be blessed with peace in the tender days ahead. Of all the things there may be to boast about in life, not too many people proudly single out their kidney doctor for honors. Doctor Lambert’s patients did. I don’t know how to determine who is the best nephrologist, but it was easy to single out the one with the brightest sense of humor. His must have thought they were capable of spotting both, as that was the talk we would overhear from them after his morning or evening rounds. With Dr. Lambert we had weighty discussions as to where the soul resided within the body. Some thought the bowel, some thought the heart, most said the brain, but Dr. Lambert insisted the kidneys, and had scriptural backing. Revelations 2:23 …”I am he which searcheth the reins (kidneys)…” I remember him being the target of disparaging remarks only once. A patient we shared accused Dr. Lambert of stealing his purple underwear. We remember him instead for being thoroughly dedicated and patient-centered, and went about life fast in his little Audi TT with love of his family and joy in his—well, kidneys. Condolences to the Lambert Family. You were blessed to have him.

I’m sending my condolences. Dick and I did some of our early training together and his medical skills and sense of humor will always be remembered by me. He is a simply superb person. Best regards, Ron Larkin
