I didn’t know Don had passed away, I met him at my daughter’s dance recital at the nursing home in the summer of 2005. He was sitting next to me in his wheelchair. I promised him an almond joy if he would let me come back for a visit. I felt a connection with him. He was so sweet and gentle I snuck him in two candy bars. He told me many stories, was so proud of his family and had the nicest music playing. He had a lot of birthdays in his calendar and I could tell he had a loving and involved family. He even tried helping me get a job there as a CNA. I remember our two visits- he was a sweet man with many wonderful stories that changed my life. I wish I’d have known he passed, I would have loved to pay my repspects. I’m sorry for your loss, I knew him a short time but he changed my life. I didn’t have a father or grandpa I could count on- he was that even for a short time. Love you Don, rest in peace with your sweetheart ♥■ I’ll never forget you!
