I live in your mom's neighborhood and for many years would see her walking back and forth to Popperton Park with her beloved yellow labs. When I would have the chance to chat with her briefly, she was always warm and kind. One time, she was scraping the ice of her daughter's windshield and I said--"you are such a good mom" and she replied, "she is such a good daughter". Her love for her children was so apparent. I am sorry for your loss--it is so hard to lose a beloved parent. I wish her family the very best.
