

Nelson Takeo Akagi

June 27, 1923 ~ September 19, 2020

My condolences to the family. It is an honor to have known him.

- Ed Kilbourn

What a great example of charity, humility and love. My mother and I recall Nelson popping up at some of the most tender and special moments of our lives. I personally, will never forget hearing his soft welcoming voice at one of the most important points in my very first temple session or the moment I looked up to see him aiding in the military burial service of my grandfather-in-law. Our love, prayers, and thoughts are with his family.

- KanaMarie Poulson

What an incredible life he lived. He touched so many lives and helped all he knew, especially our family.

- Kaye Howell

I am deeply sorry for your loss. Uncle Nelson was a good man and he will be missed

- Tammy Kilbourn

What a special family the Akagi's were to me in my growing up years. Every summer I would wait on the road in front of our house and Nelson would come by with a flat bed. I would jump on along with many other young people and head for the strawberry fields on the Akagi farm. At noon we would stop picking strawberries and would be dropped off back at our homes. On Saturdays we would quit work and head for the lawn of the big old Akagi home. There we would get paid for the week and get an ice cream treat of some kind. These were good times and afforded me to make money for the things I needed for school. These were good times and taught me the importance of working hard. Thank you to Nelson and the entire Akagi family. I was impressed reading Nelson's obituary. What an impressive long life he lived. My condolences to his family.

- Della Dibb Plewe

[redacted] Nelson Takeo [redacted] [redacted] [redacted] [redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]

- Osamu and Shoko Asai