

Sean Cunningham

March 9, 1977 ~ June 12, 2024

I am so sorry to hear of Sean’s passing. He was an amazing, thoughtful and knowledgeable individual. I especially enjoyed working with him in multiple projects within the Pediatric Heart Network. Always looking out for our patients and their families. He will be missed. I am sorry that I will miss his services as I am out of town.

I met Sean over a decade ago as a research assistant on a research study I was involved with. I was so impressed by his professionalism and enjoyed talking with him about neuropsychology and autism, two areas and populations that we both loved. We also loved talking about music and the outdoors, including places that we had traveled and backpacked. However, what I will always remember most about Sean was how his eyes lit up as he smiled and talked with such love about the woman that he had met and was going to marry soon. I also remember him showing me the beautiful pictures of your wedding. Whitney, while we have never met, I wanted to share my deepest condolences with you. Sean was truly a lovely, caring, and passionate person whom I know shared a deep and fierce love for you and your boys. I am truly sorry that I was not able to attend his services to celebrate who he was in life, but will raise a toast to him next time I am in the mountains.

Thinking of Sean again today and many days...just a good guy, and made the world a better place just being in it. He continues to be thought of, and remembered fondly. ■■■
