

Adam Charles Oldham

October 25, 1988 ~ November 17, 2021

When i first met Adam, he scared me. He was such a big personality with such a warm smile. As we started to talk, i felt like i found a piece of my soul in him and we were friend ever since. I'll never forgot all the late nights talks and the same hugs. i miss you big brother.

- Shamra

I will always remember "Uncle Adam" as the first friend who held my youngest son after he was born, and one of the first people to be there for his father and I when that same son passed, I will remember him as the man who nicknamed my older son Gabe "Google," and I will remember his smile infecting my life. I will remember him being a cheerleader when I was down and a shoulder when I was weak. I will remember his imperfections and mistakes, and I will never forget the power and strength he showed as all as he overcame his demons and showed the world that he was (and that we could all be) stronger and better than our weaknesses if we were just brave enough to try. Adam was brave and strong and he shared those qualities with anyone who came near him, and I will always be just a bit braver and stronger in my life because he was a part of it.

- Alicia Branley

He was a great friend and always loved to talk ! He was a great best friend ! You are missed ! Sorry for your family's loss !

- Amy Watson terkelson

I miss you ■

- Crystal

I’m very sad to find this. I took care of Adam a few times in the hospital, I had a department switch and always thought about my time with Adam. He was my favorite patient and I hope he knew that. I floated to an unfamiliar floor, was nervous and he was my only patient. We were literally running platelets while watching Chucky. I will never forget that day. We really connected with our love for Halloween, horror movies and he was my biggest supporter in the Halloween makeup I would do. He made me feel so at ease being on a different floor. I had him a few other times when he had came to my own unit and I fought to keep him as my patient whenever I was there. He was the most loving, sweet guy ever. So personable and fun. His family was so lucky to have him, I send my deepest condolences to his family. I hope you guys have some peace knowing he really did have friends wherever he went.

- Gabrielle

I just found out today about Adam. There are no words to express how devastating this is, I am heart broken for Crystal, Nick, and Rod. I love you all very much. Adam I will forever remember your gorgeous blue eyes and personality that was relentlessly outgoing. I hope peace for your eternally beautiful soul dear sweet baby boy.

- Sarah Abrams