Alan's father was a builder. In the early 1970s the Petersens built a nice home at 4630 S. Lanark Rd. (3305 E.), Salt Lake City, UT. We were neighbors. Then they told us they were building a bigger, fancier home, with swimming pool, in the Cotton Bottom area. They moved away and we never heard from them again. Alan must have really liked their home on Lanark Rd. and had good memories living there. For the next few decades, we would see him drive by about once a year by himself to look at his old home.
