

Alan Jarvis Keddington

May 4, 1981 ~ January 4, 2025

Alan was always so kind to me and my kids. We enjoyed the time we did spend with him, he always made us laugh when he was around. We will miss you Alan. We love you!

Alan was the first person I meet when I started working for Waste Management 12 years ago. We became instant friends! 5 years into my employment at WM Alan was looking to better his income and so he moved on to Ace. We stayed friends even though he now worked for WM competition. During the first election of Donald Trump We meet every Wednesday at Apollo Burger on Redwood and North Temple to do our part in saving the world. He truly did love this country and his family! You will be missed by many Alan! Rest in peace my friend!!

Our heart goes out to you, as I am still in shock from this news, don’t wanna believe it’s true. But in the end we have to say goodbye. We will all be here for you all we are family and love you guys. He will be missed greatly. Sending our love ❤■ to you in this time. Gonna miss him jumping into action in the camping trips, like the time he had to jump through a window to get the keys that just got locked in Trailor that was so funny girl we had a laugh that day. Love ya you got this girl you are stronger than you think you are.
