It's been a year since you have passed. I can feel you over my shoulder, hear you giving me pointers of how to go about accomplishing things. I didn't thank you enough for being my Dad. I am very lucky. I think you'd be very proud of me. Everything you taught me has been a blessing. You've probably gotten some good exercise rolling in your coffin but I haven't done anything outrageous to make you come back. There are some members of the family that you would be severely disappointed in. It's unimaginable, what the effects of losing a loved one, does to family. No one misses you more than I do. I hope you are resting peacefully. I miss you every flipping day!! Love ya Dad!
