He worked at Ryder Truck Rental for 34 years he loved his coworkers and he enjoyed getting to know the drivers he surely missed all of that when he retired. He was an active member of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, serving in several callings within his ward. He loved the ward members like his family and loved visiting with them. Greg valued his Priesthood. Greg often would remind us to "Remember who you are, who you represent, and to always honor your priesthood." Greg enjoyed doing many things; a few of them are the love for the outdoors. Often spending his free time with his family camping and fishing. He loved to tease his in-laws because he could out fish any of them anytime, his father-in-law often told him he needed Greg stink-em powder on his hook so that he could catch the fish. His amazing talent for wood working won him several awards at State and County fairs. He has always willing to share his talent with friends and family. Known as a constant joker, Greg was good at giving wet willies to unsuspecting family and friends with and always replied "my hands" when asked how he was feeling, or as ornery as the day I was born.
