

Bonnie May Schroeder

November 30, 1961 ~ January 5, 2026

Bonnie was a professional through and through. I appreciated her wit, her marvelous talent, and her dependability. She truly will be missed. I'm grateful I got to know her and to be her friend.

- Barry Anderson

My deepest condolences, Bonnie truly was a light and I believe she will continue to be a light in our lives.

May your faith, family and sweet memories sustain you as you navigate through this loss. Bonnie's story of resilience is inspirational. She will be long remembered and appreciated for the many gifts she shared generously with all through her talents and in the strong family which she built with her husband and daughter through her devotion and love.

I never got to know Bonnie personally, but being in the choir, she was an integral part of the experience with her service in the orchestra. Everyone knew who she was! I'm so grateful for the opportunity to sing in the choir at her celebration of life. God speed dear Bonnie.

Bonnie worked as an adjunct professor in the Music Department at USU teaching Oboe. I always enjoyed visiting with her in my office. I knew she had cancer but I thought she was in remission. Very sorry to hear about her passing.

My heart goes out to Bonnie’s family. She was my oboe teacher in high school. I owe so much to her for my continuing love of music and the joy of sharing it with others. Her patience with me in bringing out my best—I feel so grateful. She was an example of professionalism, artistry, and beauty that I will always remember.

Bonnie and I grew up across the street from each other in Dallas, long before I became a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. I moved back to my childhood home after joining and became closer to the Guinns. Then I joined the Tab Choir in 1996 and rekindled our joint memories when she came into the OTS a few years later. We reveled in the re-connection. I was always awed by her talented musicianship. She was such a wonderful person and will be sorely missed; however, she lived a good life, remained faithful to God and family, and will have a glorious heavenly reward.
