

Brigham Darger

November 29, 1988 ~ July 30, 2023

Pondering back to when catering was up and running. I worked late to get all of the baked goods out for the next day. Brigham would come in to do some cleaning from that days events. He was in his teens if I remember correctly. We would talk about whatever came up. His presence felt calm and quiet yet his face showed much more. Something was stirring on the inside, like he had so much to say but didn't know how to say it or who to say it too. I enjoyed talking to him and looked forward to him coming in because most of the time I was the only one there. Moving on from catering the thought of Brigham and our conversations played through my mind. I often wondered how he was doing, what he was up to. In a way, hoping we'd reconnect especially because he was older and possibly not to shy to hold back on what was on his mind. I never did get the chance to reconnect with Brigham but always felt he was in my heart. He will remain in my heart. I am truly and deeply sorry for your loss. I hear he has touched many lives through his healing ways. I'm sending you all love and I hope he continues to heal himself and all the ones that will be thinking about him daily. ❤■ Namaste!!

Brigham was, is, and always will remain a beautiful soul. His light permeated through his gentle and loving teachings. His gifts were immense, and had such a profound impact on my life when I needed him most. My little family is sending so much love to yours, especially his beautiful children I was happy to know. Time and time again in this crazy world I am reminded no pain is unmet with gold. And the seeds our Brigham planted will indeed be watered during our time of grief in losing our dear brother. We love you Brigham.

I am terribly sad to hear this news while I'm far away here in New Zealand. Its hard to believe such an amazing light and soul has left so soon. Thank you Brigham for sharing your own personal medicines and offerings, thank you Shauna and Jason for showing up and being such a massive impact in my life. My time in Utah was precious to say the least staying with Brigham and the children and the Darger family. I could see Brighams love and commitment to them was pure and deep, everything he did was for love and healing. He rests as a brave and courageous heart, serving humanity with his light and presence. My heart pours out to the Darger family, my dearest American family whom I love so much, may his love surround you all now and always

Your smile could heal a room of pain. I'll never forget the love you shown me even at a young age. This world is a little darker with you gone and although I feel you're still needed here, apparently you are needed more at heavens gates. May you rest in peace knowing you leave behind a legacy of love for everyone you have touched.

Rest in peace, brother. You dedicated your life to service and to heal others. Thank you for bringing light to the places you passed. May God comfort the hearts of the family members.

HI SPIRITUAL BROTHER, Though you have moved on ahead of us, your spirit remains. Remember? The first time I laid eyes on you in the bus, the first thing I said after I troudced myself was..." You have a very nice spiritual aura" and you simply said which later on I realised was your usual demeanor....Thank you with a very slight smile. Despite the lack of smiles on your face unlike all of us, you r internal aura of kindness and acceptance of life emanates from your very soul level. Again, I will always remember your sincere and immediate reply to my invitton to share your Egypt experience in my book. I did not know then that statement will document your premonition of your early death. In page 47 of My Egypt Story with Matias, you said and I quote " I felt like I was in a sweat lodge. There was a very beautiful Goddess present there, and I felt myself inside the womb ." Which you went to a year after. We will miss you, but you will always be in our hearts. Ttill we meet again my kindred spirit. For we live in the eternal essence.
