

Carol Snarr

April 29, 1934 ~ May 28, 2024

Dear Lance and family… I was sorry to hear about your dear mother, my sister-in-law, Carol Snarr, passing recently. She had the cutest giggle I've ever heard, and would give anybody the shirt off her back if they needed it. She was mother to some wonderful children who have all done well in their lives. My heart goes out to you. Love, Aunt Cathi Stanger Mohr Aunt Carol has one of the best smiles and best laughs I've ever known. Her kindness had a big impact on my life. I will always be thankful for the time I had to get to know her and learn from her. She will always have a special place in my heart. ♥■ Much love and fond thoughts to you, her family.

I have known the privilege of being an obscure, humble witness to the Snarr household for almost 40 years, as the ""keeper of the clocks". I love Doug and Carol! I love how they love each other, and have been completely devoted to each other's comfort and happiness, and to the success and eternal nature of their marriage. I love Carol. She has been my friend, a kind counselor as we have shared conversations about Gospel topics, always with a sweet smile and unusual wisdom, and sometimes with a chuckle and a little humor. I love how she would always ask about my wife and my family, in a kind and caring and ministering way. I love how Carol has always been there for Doug, her companion. I have witnessed the lovely white light of her conversation, her intelligent counsel, her support of her good husband, and even her wise, reasoning input when Doug's amazing ideas and ambitions might occasionally go "over the top". (That said, one of Doug's remarkable tributes to Carol is "She let me be me.) The story of Doug and Carol is not ended with Carol's passing beyond the veil. Their mutual love continues, as does their faithfulness to the Lord who blessed them with this union. Elder Bruce R. McConkie said, "It does not make one particle of difference whether we serve on this side of the veil, or on the other." The story of Doug and Carol continues, and the years will not be many until they are reunited. Their eternal marriage covenant, blessed by Priesthood authority, ensures this. Meanwhile, a little desk clock in the Snarr home ticks away minutes of mortality--the first clock that Doug ever gave to Carol. It bears a simple engraved inscription: " Doug loves Carol"

We knew Carol as a kind and gentle soul. In our opinion she gets five stars for raising her children well, and being a faithful wife. Our sincere condolences to her family.

Over the years we occasionally encountered people who had served as missionaries in Alaska with the Snarrs. Invariably, their comments centered around how they loved Sister Snarr, how delightful, kind and interested she was in them. She was a blessing to all of those missionaries, as she has been a blessing to her children and a beloved member of her extended family. Her sister, Paula, and I will greatly miss her, but hope to meet her once again in the near future.

My thoughts, prayers and condolences are with the family. “In His plan there are no true endings, only everlasting beginnings. “ (Dieter F. Uchtdorf) I know that Jesus Christ conquered death. I know he brings peace and hope through the resurrection.. Carol is not far from you. As family ties endure forever.

My condolences and heartfelt sympathy to Brooke, Curt, Lance and Mary, Doug and the family. Carol was truly an exemplary woman and I count myself blessed for having known her.

I love the Snarr family Carol was always sweet to me and tolerate of Lance and I and our childish dysfunctions. I will celebrate with you this day a great woman and her glorious return to our Heavenly Father.

Sister Carol Snarr was the gracious encouraging companion of my beloved mission president. She herself was and is beloved by all who knew her. She was a warm gentle force for the Alaskan missionaries. Moroni wrote that "in the gift of his son hath God prepared a more excellent way." For me, and for so many others, Carol Snarr was an affirmation of what that more excellent way looks like. A true disciple of Jesus Christ.

We knew the Snarrs from their days in Alaska as mission leaders. We lived in Homer. Thank you for all you did. So sorry Sister Snarr was taken. She was a quiet, steading influence to everyone. Condolences to your entire family.

Hello wonderful Snarr family--Brooke, Kurt, Lance, Mary, and of course, Doug! Oh my goodness. What a wonderful funeral you provided for your mom. Each of your talks was so touching and memorable. Wow. My heart still has a bit of an ache from it hours later...the good kind. I have always been struck, as has everyone who knows them, with the quality of the love your parents have for each other, undying, evergreen. To see that the bond you children have with each other is of the same caliber was thrilling to see. You are truly an example of how families should be, and you're right, it is exceptionally rare. Kudos to you all. I have so many memories of your mom, but most of all, it was her ever-ready chuckle, that smile, that one-of-a-kind voice, and the way she called me "Little Heather" most every time she greeted me, said goodbye, or asked if I wanted something to eat. Oh, her soups were good, I remember that. Though Carol didn't say much, and always carried a patient, loving, unflappable demeanor, I thought I could sense a fair amount of spunk there too, which I liked. (Btw, I loved her nickname for me so much that I call my daughters "Little Nina," "Little Sadie," and "Little Natalia," whenever I'm feeling extra tender toward them. :)) I have such warm and tender feelings for her, for Doug, and for each one of you! It was wonderful to see you, if only on technology, and feel of your spirits once again as you spoke today. You are full of gentleness, love, and a sincere interest in your fellow human beings, just like your mom. I only wish I could have been there in person to greet you. With much love, "Little Heather"

I just ran across sweet Carol’s obituary. I know it has been several months since she passed, but wanted to give my heartfelt love and gratitude to such an incredible, gracious and beautiful lady. May God be with you all.
