
Morgan Shirley Marcario

April 16, 2014 ~ October 7, 2024

Morgan Shirley Marcario passed away on October 7, 2024, after a long and arduous battle of multiple complications from a rare chromosomal disorder called Dup15q syndrome. She passed peacefully, at home, surrounded by loved ones. She was born to parents Danny and Rebecca Marcario on April 6, 2014. Morgan was known by friends, family, teachers, doctors, and therapists for her extraordinary determination and resilience.

Morgan was incredibly feisty and had a great sense of humor. She approached her challenge of communicating with a sense of adventure. At the age of 6, she learned how to use a complicated communication device, showing that she understood everything. From that point on, she loved expressing what was on her mind. However, she didn't always need her device to communicate. Subtle but expressive, she could often convey what she was thinking with a look. She enjoyed Disney movies, particularly the classics, and loved the music from her favorite movies. She traveled in a cloud of Disney songs wherever she went, using a Bluetooth speaker that hung from her wheelchair. She loved being outdoors, and in August 2024, the Make-A-Wish Foundation fulfilled her wish for a wheelchair-accessible backyard, where she spent as much time as possible. Morgan also loved swimming, dogs, and sensory toys.

Morgan is survived by her loving parents, Danny and Rebecca Marcario, and her brother, Kyle Marcario. Her Grandparents, David and Shirley Colby, and John and Linda Marcario.
