- Jake and Tamara Fackrell

Our family feel unspeakable sadness over the loss of your beautiful boy Christopher. I still think of Christopher as that little boy in Primary and Scouts, so gentle, intelligent, obedient and capable. I always felt he had a serenity that was unusual in one so young. Luke could count on Christopher to be the friend that would behave well and was a good example to their peers. It’s hard to understand this profound loss, but we will be praying for you and will keep Christopher in our hearts and memory as one of the special ones we knew in life.

- Vanessa Sutton

Cook Family, We love you and are thinking of you at this time. Your family has always been a strong example of faith and of putting the atonement into action during trials. Thank you for that. We have watched Christopher grow up and we send prayers full of peace and love your way. The funeral was beautiful. Much Love, The Bush’s

I am heartbroken to learn of Chris's passing. I taught him in German classes for three years and so enjoyed getting to know him, his intellect, humor, and kindness. He will be sorely missed. Bis aufs Wiedersehen, Chris

My heart is filled with deep sadness as I write this short note of condolence. As a junior, Chris was a special student in my A1 AP Calculus class. I absolutely loved having Chris in my class. He was an intelligent, motivated, thoughtful, and most importantly kind young man who I thoroughly loved working with all year. My thoughts and prayers are with your family.

Dear parents My condolences for all your family. My deepest sympathy for your young son that left this life too early. Looking at him, I saw my youngest son that left this life too early too, they have same hair style, freedom that shows for everyone. I just want tell you, it is hard to listen but is true: your son still close to you and always will. God bless you and bring peace to yours hearts.

- Al Pasin

It's not fair that this happened. Chris was in my German class, and was always such an amazing friend. It's never fair when this happens, I've had my fair share in losing those I love, and it's always such a hard thing to go through. However, heavenly father has his plan, and knew that it was his time to come home. Even if he wasn't able to make it far on his mission on Earth, there are so many souls in heaven that I know for a fact will benefit from his infectious smile and the good work he does.
