Jack Robb Stevens

August 12, 1964 ~ March 25, 2019

On Monday, March 25, 2019, many of us lost an extraordinary man,ÄîJack "Robb" Stevens. And while his life may have been cut short early, it was nothing short of exceptional and remarkable, having left behind a profound imprint upon the hearts of countless people.

Born on August 12, 1964 in El Cajon, California, Robb was the fourth child and only son of Jack and Sandra Stevens. At an early age, it was evident Robb had a deep love for the outdoors. On any given day, you could find him exploring nature or playing sports. And of course, there was the constant, daily teasing of his three older sisters. He was quick to learn as he teased and badgered yet loved his younger sister Abby. All adore him to this day.

His outgoing and fun-natured personality continued in high school, where he graduated from Parowan, Utah as a three-sport, decorated athlete.

Shortly thereafter, his passion for life led him to find Lisa Stokes, the woman who would become his bride on August 24, 1985. Lucky for Robb, great things came in packages of two because he was also able to adopt her son, David Robb. The title of "father" became something he immediately cherished and revered. And it didn't take long for Robb and Lisa to expand their family with the addition of two beautiful daughters, Rachael and Kaitlin.

As a provider for his family and as a leader in the community, Robb was the embodiment of hard work, sacrifice, and discipline. Whether he was designing and building custom homes, coaching athletes on the field, or simply being a family man, he taught and led by example. No act of service was too small to render. No person was too underserving of his time and energy. No grandkid's game was too far away to attend. No regular Sunday night family phone call was too unimportant to make time for. And when he was with you, he was one-hundred percent present. The whole world could be asking for his attention, and yet, he made you feel like you were the only one in the room; the only person that even mattered.

He was always an early riser, a man of routine. Every morning, he rose with a cup of coffee and retired to bed every night feeling exhausted, well knowing that he was living and not just enduring. The country was his playground, and often he was hunting, horseback riding, or simply appreciating a wonderful sunset on a scenic mountain drive. And of course, he loved a cold Bud Light. He soaked all of life in,Äîevery bit.

Later in life, Robb remarried and found new love with his beautiful wife of today, Jenny Dawson. Once again, he embraced the role of father with her four children: Mitch, Austin, Aubrey, and Hayden. New adventure awaited as they moved to North Dakota and eventually settled down in Montana,Äîthe perfect spot for his country boy's big heart. Together, with his wife, they built a wonderful marriage and a successful and thriving construction company, allowing him to continue to serve the needs of everyone around him.

Ultimately, Robb lived an exemplar life. To know him, meant to hear his laugh, to see his smile, and most importantly, to feel of his warmth and know you were both loved and appreciated in his life.

Robb is preceded in death by his mother, Sandra; his grandparents, Ivan and Zelma Robb and Albert and Dora Stevens, and his niece, Toshia Stettler. He is survived by his wife, Jenny; his children and step-children,ÄîDavid (Marcie), Rachael (Robert), Kaitlin (Justin), Mitch, Austin, Aubrey (Riley), and Hayden; his father, Jack; his sisters,ÄîJill, Trisha (Kevin), Sydnee (Dan) and Abby (Kerwin); and nine beautiful grandchildren.
