

Elden A Brown and Joyce Patterson Brown

~

I haven't known Elden and Joyce very long, but I've always appreciated their smiling faces and warm handshakes. One of my favorite recollections is running into them at the grocery store. We both had Wednesdays as our shopping days and I looked forward with anticipation to meeting them in the aisles, share smiles and good connections. My favorite thing was to give them a gentle hug from behind without them knowing who it was until they turned around. It was a highlight of my week to run into the wonderful Browns. I will miss them, but they will definitely be in my thoughts as I roam the grocery store aisles on Wednesdays.

- Jerry Hatch

The Brown's were a steady, loving, faithful, and caring couple. Elden was my home teaching companion in my formative teen years. He cared about me. We went monthly. He taught me how to teach a lesson. And he was always kind and loving. I have shared his impact these last nearly 30 years in many settings and to many people. I hold him to be an exemplary example in teaching, in helping, and caring about another. The Brown's relationship was full of love and kindness, to each other and to others. They will be greatly missed here on Earth, but are together for eternity.

- Nathan Evershed

I will treasure my many memories with Sis Brown at the piano and the blessing of music she imparted to me. My parents always treasured their service and friendship with the Browns as well. We wish you all peace and love from both sides of the veil. Rachel Thomas Larson and family Darryl and Susan Thomas family

- Rachel Larson

We have known the Browns for close to 50 years. They were always delightful to know, and very inspirational. For years, Joyce played the organ in the Ensign Peak Ward. They both emanated a powerful spirit of our Savior. They are some of the finest people we have ever known.

- Bob & Rebecca Sykes

Brother and Sister Brown were an exemplary couple of what it means to be the salt of the earth and to faithfully endure to the end. How grateful I am for their example.

- Jason Burton

So sorry to hear of your grandparents passing. I will pray for your comfort and peace. Thank you so much for your Christmas letter and pictures I enjoyed learning about your life. The kids are growing up.. They are amazing.

- Jana Meecham

Rosanne, I'm so sorry for the loss of your dear sweet parents. Much love and prayers to you and your entire family.

- Sheri Dye

Dear Rosanne my friend. I am saddened by the loss of your parents. They were always fine gentle souls, kind and good to me. Their home was lovely with a good Spirit too. Thank you Sister Brown for your patient piano lessons to me. I noticed their obituary,, as my Dad, David O. Martin also had his Larkin funeral on April 19. Mom passed in December. May God dearly bless us every one! ♥■Love, Beth Ann Martin G. Roberts

- Beth Ann Martin G. Roberts