Sorry for the tremendous loss for all. He will always be remembered by those he knew and loved him.

- Henry Lewis

Jeff was my friend at Buxton. His passion and singularity are clear. I wish I could say hello again. To imagine those of you who are family and friends still close with him--I know you're missing someone very special. I think I remember his precocious teenage self telling me, "Chin up."

- Zondie Zinke

Your boy is safe in the arms of the One who said, "Let the little children come to me... for the kingdom of heaven belongs to such as these." (Matthew 19:14)

- Dan and Ruthy Gallo

I've known Jefferson since he was a child. He had such a bright and sunny air about him that always made me smile. Jefferson will be sorely missed by all who knew and loved him.

- Valerie Miller

Dear Jefferson, I'm sitting here trying to make sense of a world that feels completely empty without you. We were supposed to have so much more time. I really thought we'd be those two old friends, still leaning on each other decades from now. Facing the reality that those plans are gone is a weight I don't know how to carry. You were the one person who truly knew me. You saw me at my best and you were there for me through the physical and mental struggles that have left me feeling so crippled now. Without you here to help me, the silence is deafening. I feel so lost, and I'm so sorry I wasn't there for you in the moments you needed someone most. That regret is a heavy burden, and I hope you can feel how much I wanted to be there. I still find myself wanting to ask you about Kiki. I've looked for her for so long, and it breaks my heart that the one person who might have known the answer is gone now, too. I'm holding onto the hope that wherever you are, you've found that answer—and that you've found the peace and freedom your soul deserves. I don't understand why this happened, and I don't know how I'm going to navigate this life without my friend and my support system. But I promise to carry your memory, your art, and your spirit with me. You were such a huge part of who I am, and that doesn't disappear just because you're not here physically. I'll be missing you every single day until we meet again. With all my love, Shannon

Your beautiful obituary did perfect justice to your brother. I am deeply sorry for your family's terrible loss. Jefferson was clearly a precious and important part of it.
