Sincere condolences at the loss of someone so special. The obituary captures the wonderfulness of the Jennifer we knew only briefly but who made a lasting impression. May she rest in peace.

I remember Jennifer well. I went to elementary school, junior high, and high school with her. She was always kind and positive. Such a sweet tiny person who always cared for others.

I met Jeni on the first day of 7th grade. We instantly became the best of friends and continued to be for the rest of her all too short life. I love her with all my heart, and while I miss knowing she is on the earth, I know the joyful reunion she has had with Ali and her ancestors who have gone before her has been absolutely glorious! She missed Ali every minute after she passed. Jen is all heart, and despite having every excuse to be angry and bitter with the world, she loved everyone in her path with all her soul. She is a stunning example of Christlike love, support, and acceptance, and I will forever be grateful for her for so many things, not the least of which is being the reason I met my husband. Long story, rocky middle, and happy eternity! I love you, Jen. Thank you, from my heart and soul, for loving me.

I miss you every day and remembering how I knew you loved me no matter how far apart we were or how long we would go without seeing each other or talking brings tears to my eyes every time. I can't believe it has been a year. I love you, my friend, and still pray for you often. My heart hurts for Charles and Rennan and your extended family and friends. Please remember to save me a good seat at orientation when I get there. Mwah!

I love you, Jen. I still miss you every day, and often think about how grateful I will always be to know that you loved me. It was one of the bedrocks in my life, so thank you. I know it is still true, and I love you, too. I hope you are happy, and busy, and loving every minute. I pray for you and for Charles and Rennan, and am so grateful to know I will see you again. Love much! Kisses!
