

Jeremy Monroe Johnston

March 28, 1971 ~ June 15, 2024

The time I got to spend in person with Jeremy was relatively short - a summer as an intern at BBCW in 2019, and a return visit for about a week as a research fellow in 2021. But we spoke regularly online and over the phone, and he served as a keynote at a virtual conference that I organized. Jeremy was an important mentor to me, instrumental in putting me on a path to academic, career, and personal successes. He was dear to me both as a friend and colleague, and although I'm saddened by his passing, I am glad that his suffering is over.

- Dr. William J. Hansard

I was fortunate to get to know Jeremy not long after he began employment at the Buffalo Bill Center of the West. It was the beginning of many lively conversations and other interactions. He was an insightful and helpful colleague to many of us. In my case, his assistance with my books "Lakota Performers in Europe" and "Galloping Gourmet: Eating and Drinking with Buffalo Bill" was invaluable and ensured that they got published. I knew he was struggling with his health but thought he was winning the good fight, so was shocked to learn of his passing last week. My prayers are with Jeremy's family and his many other friends who are mourning this loss.

- Steve Friesen

My heartfelt condolences. I went to college with Jeremy and most asuradly would not have passed Geology without Jeremy's help. He was always so good to me. Christine

- Christine Lawrence

Sending much love and prayers to Mandy, and Jeremy's entire family and Cody/Powell community. He was a generous and wonderful friend and scholar. The history of the American West and Buffalo Bill have forever been advanced because of him. It was great to share PhD. times with him at Strathclyde. I will miss our work together and cherish the final poster exhibition now on view at the Center.

- Michelle Delaney

Our deepest condolences to Jack and Carol, our sister-in-law Jane (Johnston) & brother Jim Jones, and all of Jeremy's family and friends.

- Dianne (Jones) and Bruce Pacot

Just ran across this sad information. I took a couple of Dr Johnston’s classes at NWC and got so much from them. Awesome teacher

- James Bruno