Dear Jessica, I have thought of you countless times over the years. Every time I play Animal Crossing I think of how much fun it was when you taught me how to play it on Nintendo DS. I still have that old DS and that original Animal Crossing game cartridge with the village you helped me create. I could never bring myself to part with it. I have continued to play every version of Animal Crossing since, it is inextricably linked to you and I have missed you so very much. I wish we could have one more chance to play together. I remember taking you to see the Cure in May 2008 at the E Center. I was so excited to take you to see my favorite band. I still have the ticket stubs, I keep them in a box with my old DS. I remember when we went to Disneyland…you loved it as much as I do. You have held space in my heart for so long. I wish I had one more chance to tell you how much you are loved.
