She was a special one, that girl. I'm sad to see her go but her wild spirit goes with her and she's free to be.

Kristi Heil Tribe, She is my light. When I seemed to be in the darkness. She is a soul mate, she is my Bestfriend. Kristi believed in, to always be in the service of others. Meaning She was always, then in the service of our Beloved Savior. She is by far one of the strongest person I know, cause She is a Royal Daughter of our Creator. She is with Her Hero, Justin Her amazing brother. She is Love, Laughtor and most of all pure light. I know for a fact, She is surronding us all with peace. I feel it everyday. Kristi is truly one of a kind. She helps me know, that She succeeded in life and even why'll She sleeps in Heavenly peace as well. I will be full of completeness when we reunite in the Glory of our Eternal God once again. All of Us will cry with happiness and Joy. She would always say how much She was grateful and lucky She was, to have been Blessed by the parent's She has. And We all can testify how true that really is. I marveled how she Honored Her Mother and Father. Kristi I could eternally go on and on, of such a beautiful, and Loving person you are. I know I need to have patiences, in my mortal exsistance. Thank you Kristi, for being my Best Friend, and I will wait till We embrace each other in the presents of the Glory of our Eternal Father. Your best friend, and companion Stevie Bench.

An angel on earth and an angel now in paradise Kristi will live on in the very many hearts she has changed for the better. She is a mystic, with a child like innocense and a world-wise mind. She gave the greatest hugs ever. She has changed my life forever, and will live on in my heart till my dying day and beyond...

Kristi Tribe was one of the best people I knew. She was so much more than the illness she suffered from. She was one of my dearest friends. I take comfort in knowing she is in a better place where sickness cannot touch her. She is at peace forever more. Those who knew her and loved her, there will always be a Kristi sized hole in our heart, but I know she would not want us to mourn her too long. She would want us to live our lives free and happy and during the time I knew her, we had the same struggles, but she helped me in that quest, living free and happy. She was a beautiful spirit and I know she is with her father in heaven. I hope to see her there one day.

It's been many years since Kristi and I were childhood friends. But I can still remember how happy I was that she, Joy and I all met at the park one day and quickly became close friends. Our friendship was brief and life took us separate directions following Joy's sudden passing at the young age of 12. But I always enjoyed seeing Kristi from time to time until leaving home to start my own family. Recently, my youngest son has been dealing with the grief of losing not one but two young friends and I've shared my experience of my friendship with Kristi and Joy to show that it's okay to grieve our friends. I was always so grateful that Kristi and her parents allowed me to accompany them to Joy's funeral. Kristi and I really struggled with that experience. But we had each other. And that meant the world to me. My mother called to tell me the news of Kristi's passing and although we haven't been in touch since our childhood, I grieve for my dear friend. I thank my Heavenly Father for allowing Kristi, Joy and I to experience the brief connection we had and the love we had for one another. I pray she and Joy have reunited among her many other loved ones waiting on the other side of the veil.

I knew Kristi through my brother, Duncan Hilton. Kristi has a rare combination of innocence and wisdom, which is difficult to keep in this world. People with this gift have a radiance about them, which I can see. Every time I got the chance I would mention her light, and thanked her for sharing it with myself and others. Kristi was a mystic, and kept this light until the end. My prayers are will her family and all who are missing her. And Kristi, thank you for sharing your light.

Kristi, I loved you and always prayed that you would find the answers to the questions of life that we often discussed. I hope you figured out that it was worth it after all. I'll see you again someday, and I will look forward to that giant hug again. Love, Joelyn
