Bobbi, I'm sorry to read of your Dad's passing. We know we'll lose our parents, but I think the finality of it is still hard. He accomplished so much in his lifetime - sort of a bigger than life kind of story. May you and your family keep the memory of him alive....he can continue to be an inspiration. Love, Linda Wagstaff

Dear Bobbi, Doug and I were touched when we learned of your dad's passing. What an incredible man who lived an incredible life of service and purpose. And what a privilege to be his daughter. We are thinking of you, knowing that this is bittersweet. So hard to be apart for a time! Love, Mary Ann

- Doug and Mary Ann Grant

Bobbi and Rod, I'm thinking of you at this tender time. Your father was an amazing man and I feel fortunate that I was acquainted with him and had the opportunity to visit his vast and beautiful ranch. The family that you have raised is a tribute to both of your parents. It's hard to realize that you are the oldest generation, but you will continue to carry the legend forward. Sending you love and strength as you navigate the road ahead. Fondly, Barbara

My father, Jesse A. Moench, was Lorin's older brother and loved him so dearly. He often spoke of their fun times during leave in WWII together. Our deepest condolences go to Uncle Lorin and his family, and hope he enjoyed the jade elephants from Dad's collection. With much love, niece Shelley Moench-Kelly and nephew-in-law Michael Kelly

Uncle Lorin was a legend for our family as well. Each visit with him was full of love and generosity. It was a privilege to visit with him a few years ago as he shared his love for his ancestors and family. We all have a rich legacy to be grateful for and to pass on to our children. He was an example of all that is important in this life, always reminding us of our rich legacy. Each time I go to the Conference Center, I love looking at the Arnold Friberg painting, "Our First Rocky Mountain Sunday School" and knowing that Uncle Lorin was the model for his pioneer ancestor, Richard Ballantyne in that painting. I can only imagine the welcome by all those he admired heavenside, especially his lovely Barbara. Ours is an eternal righteous family, of which, I am so grateful to be a part.
