

Lowell LaVoy Bryner

May 9, 1938 ~ February 25, 2021

So sorry for your loss. You and your family are in our thoughts.

- Richard & Brenda Butler

These pictures are wonderful ! You captured the many sides of his personality. He loved to talk, to listen, to teach, to interact, to debate, to inspire, share scripture knowledge, he loved cars and planes and to talk about them, he was interested in all my travel talk between adventures and trips I took, he was the tipping point that my first trip to Germany was a good idea. He had the best slow laugh and yes ■ whistling. He loved the German language and his connections to his historical past. He was a super great uncle to my brothers and I- from priesthood blessings, standing in the circle for various blessing and ordinations, talks and guidance and just caring. He will be missed. My sympathies to all the family- my aunt, his siblings and my cousins. Love to all. Bettina

Dear Karin, I am so sorry for your loss. Lowell was a great and dear man. Sincerely, Larry Decker

I am deeply saddened by Lowell's passing. He was a kind and loving brother. He was kind to everyone. When he was serving his mission, I was still experiencing an occasional nightmare. My mother would comfort me by telling me to think of Lowell. It worked every time. I love his family very much. Duane

My dear Bryner friends, I am so sorry that another mortal loss has come to your immediate family. I will forever be grateful that Lowell and Karin decided to make Jasmine Street your home. I will always consider you guys as my second family. It was at your house that I developed my love for thick, homemade french fries; trampolines (you had the bounciest one in town and it gave me my first stiches); bikes (you had the coolest racing/bmx bikes and gave me confidence to jump); video games (the finest 3.5” floppy-disk games), and other things. I learned about bidets (though I never dared use it). You had cool cars and a boat. The days hanging out at your house with Michael, with no care in the World, are days I will always cherish. Lowell was not a man of many words (at least to me), but he always treated me with warmth and kindness. Also, to this day, I’ve never heard a man with a built-in tracker. You could hear Lowell whistling a mile away! Lowell, may you rest in peace knowing you raised an amazing family, all of whom have remained true to the Faith. As with Paul, you have fought a good fight, finished your course, and kept the faith. God bless you and your family. Rest in peace; until we meet again!

I am saddened by the loss of Lowell, but not surprised that he was faithful to the end. We worked together numerous times as missionaries in Austria and I always felt blessed by his companionship. He was a faithful, humble man with great faith in Jesus Christ. Our prayers and blessings to a great family. Bob Daynes

Lowell as a big influence on my life. He taught me to ride a bike, how to do some work on mechanical things and encouraged me to join the military. He always wanted to know how I was really doing and loved to hear my stories of flying. One highlight was his visit to the SLC airport when I flew my military T-37 in on a cross country flight. Thanks for being there for ma from my youth to my wedding to now. A great man with a powerful legacy of faith, the love of family and gratitude for freedom.
