

Lynnette Stroud

February 17, 1952 ~ July 3, 2025

So many happy memories with Lynette. Our kids loved when she would join us on camping trips. She had her own bed in our tent trailer and usually had some craft she would bring along to share with the kids and was good at being teased right along with everyone else. In the summer we would eat out on our deck and our kids would watch for her to come home from work and call her over to dinner as things were just more fun when she was with us. We all loved the stories she had to tell and all the old sayings she had and how she could change her voice to sound just like Heber C kimball or any Disney character the kids were wanting. Lynette had so many talents and loved to share them. We would often lose our Tyler and we could find him sitting on Lynette's step with her making something from beads or clay or whatever she was working on at the moment. She was like a second mom for our kids. We were so blessed to have her next door for so many years. Love you Lynette!■
