Nancy, I just saw your mom's obit in the paper. I'm sorry to hear her light has gone out. Your mom was a real bright spot for me at Parklane while I was caring for my mom, Helen. She always had a smile for me. She was always calling me over when she saw me in the atrium to give me a hug or talk about the sweater I had on or just to chat. Let me guess, she made the sweater she has on in her obit photo. Marie talked with me about everything from Gaelic, to knitting, to life in general. I knew her from the time she moved into Parklane and I'm so glad I got to be friends with her. I'm so sorry I haven't been by to see her in a long time. I've purposefully stayed out of Parklane so as not to risk bringing in Covid. I will forever remember seeing her doing silly dances at programs at Parklane. Debbie Mayo
