Pam was one of my best friends. I felt so badly when she moved from being my next-door neighbor several years ago. She truly was a caring and wonderful person. I pray that her family will be comforted knowing that she is out of her suffering and pain.

To Pam's family, I first met Pam in our home in Ft Wayne IN while she had just come from France she stayed in our home till her and companion could get an apartment. We got to know each other very well I was out in the kitchen when she said to me "I have been divorced three times" I said "Jim is my fourth husband keep going" we looked at each other laughed and hugged" that day and for many to come it was a hoot. Every Tuesday her Pday my mom and I would take her out for steak lunch. After we would take mother back to the house and Pam & I would go to Grabil a small town east of Ft WYN. We would shop, get home made fudge. It is an Amish community it was fun seeing them with their horse and buggies. For her one year being out on her mission she asked me to have a get together with some of the sister from church. What we were going to do was up to me. I wanted to be different than what any thing she would have thought might happened. A pajama party sent out little invites, please bring a dish to pass for lunch and wear your pjs there was popcorn, candy and pop (soda). We had so much fun. Pam loved Christmas her big tree and all the tiny ornaments with their little vignettes I was able to see it one year. There are so many more good times. May you all be comforted knowing this isn't the end it another beginning. Love to you all

Just as the obituary listed everybody was family and loved by Pam! She was such an amazing person has helped me throughout my life when I needed a place to stay, a friend, a listening ear, she introduced me to dark patties See's candies, loved seeing her goose and all the outfits! I shared so many smiles and laughter with this woman, she was truly amazing!

I think of what Elder/President Hugh B. Brown said, "The candle has gone out because the dawn has come." I watched the funeral online and really miss my dear friend Pam.
