I feel like I have gotten to know you through your daughter's posts on social media (Heidi Swapp). If you could read this now I would hope that you could feel the love for you! I hope your family finds peace in all the special memories that were documented by you through the years and that special skill that you passed to your daughter. PS. Your husband is still sweetly holding your hand.

Your Mom has come full circle, she has gone home to be with all the loved ones that have gone before her...It isn't easy to lose the person who gave you life, but it's your life that will keep her alive, the memories of all of your lives will continue to live on...I'm sending all my energy and prayers your way for your family and friends...Your Mom was a beautiful soul, with a beautiful family...She is now walking hand in hand with your son Cory...
