- Logan Sheppard

Sorry for your loss. Aiden was a good friend, he also was a hard worker as well. He had a passion for cars and we would talk about them. I pray for your family and for Aiden.

- Jacob Norris

There are so many unfulfilled hopes and dreams with Aiden’s departure from this earth. No words can express the sorrow and loss. His beautiful soul and his free spirit sparked pride, smiles, and sometimes challenges for his family. They worked hard to support and guide with a clear vision of the man he would become to only have that opportunity stripped away. Love has no boundaries and though departed, Aiden will always fill the hearts of his loved ones with his beautiful soul and free spirit. Aiden, give Chance a hug for me❤■ it doesn’t feel real that he’s gone. Maybe that’s the denial but i just don’t want to accept it because he was such a great guy to everyone and was so good at making everyone laugh. I remember going into escosios class in the middle of the period just to hangout with him. He was a great friend to me and to everyone. He was always saying hi to people in the hall and reaching out to people he was an incredible person and such a good example to me. I love that kid so much and i hope i can see him again someday

- Bridger Welch

In reading the obituary of your beautiful boy one can feel the love, deep sorrow and devastating shock of Aiden’s loss. His accomplishments are numerous and his legacy will live on in all of you. From one parent to another I wish you any peace you can find in these moments. I hope for you that in a warm summer breeze you can catch Aiden’s spirit and that you can be comforted by that.

- Nancy LeBlon

Never met him. Never knew him. But I have a son and can only imagine the pain of losing a son in this time of their life. I have only recently found God and i can't even begin to understand why life is as difficult and complicated and painful as it is, but I know it all happens for a reason and God took him home for a reason. He rest with God now, and your pain may feel like a burden but it truly is only the gift of life we mourn. May God bring your family peace.

- Zachary Pack

I did not know you, but the people who did have expressed so much endless gratitude and appreciation towards you and i just hope to spread prayers and the best of luck to everybody regarding the healing process, you are so deeply loved and important.

- nichole gonzalez

I met Aidan when he was in 7th grade and I was his substitute teacher. I had the pleasure of watching him grow up over the years as I continued to substitute many of his classes. He was always laughing, telling me jokes, and talking with me. Even when I wasn't his teacher that day, if he saw me in the halls he would walk with me and ask me how I was doing. I always appreciated how fun Aidan was and what a good friend he was to others, including my own daughter. He was a bright light in the world. My love and condolences to his family and friends.

- Amanda McKay

Adien was a good kid. I was a year older then him i barely talked to him. the first time i saw him was in middle school in gym class, i thought he was cute, but never thought or did anything about it ■ Im more then shocked that his happened out of all the people i knew i never thought it would be him. when i found out i about had tears in my eyes. again i talked to him about 2-3 times, but i would see him in the halls being goofy and that big smile of his. i remember one time in the Halls he was wearing his hawaii like shirt and just dancing around with some friends. not many people knew him but everyone knowed him. I pass the rode where it happened and can’t stop thinking about him, and i asked myself why it had to be him. I barely knew aiden and he some how impacted me greatly, he made my high school fun… even tho i only saw him in the halls or in the commons. I’m truly sorry for your loss he’s in a better place God had bigger plans for aiden. thought in prayers from me forever.

aiden was one of the funniest people i'd ever met. he never failed to make me laugh, despite not being super close friends. he was always so happy, i don't think i've ever seen him without a smile on his face. he showed me how important it is to appreciate life, and it breaks my heart to see his cut so short. i know he would have lived an incredible life. he didn't deserve this we don't know why it happened. but let's all live for aiden ■

- anonymous

Love and big hugs to your family! What an amazing kiddo! You are all in our thoughts and we share in your grief.

- Mandy and Addison Erickson

Aiden truly was an amazing person. We weren’t the closest of friends but I loved him. No matter how long we didn’t talk for we could always play video games/ text each other about any of our problems with no loss of closeness. I will miss our late nights playing games and just talking about his girl problems and my boy problems. I wish we were actually able to go on that trip to St George that we were talking about before you left for the navy. ❤■

- Max Nielsen

I’m am sincerely sorry for your loss. Aiden was a great kid and was so nice to me. He knew how to light up a room. We had 9th grade art together and that was my favorite part of the day when we all got to hang out and do our art projects together. Rest easy Aiden you will be missed by many.

- Sophia

I’m so sorry for your loss. What an amazing young man!My son worked with him at Jiffy Lube. His memories will live on forever. May your family be watched over, loved and together forever. Sending all our love and prayers.

- Harmony Ogden

Langston Family, My deepest condolences in this time of loss. We are not meant to part with our children so soon. I did not know your son but his story, short as it may be, demonstrates that he touched lives. Heavenly Father has a plan for all of us and we may never know why he recalls some back to him when it seems there is so much more to do. I'm sure he would have been an asset to the Navy, rippling the waters of life with fellow shipmates and experiencing things few have only dreamed. Now, he can regale stories with angels and look onward over those standing watch in his place.
