

Suzanne Hintze Weaver

March 1, 1938 ~ November 14, 2021

I was saddened to hear of the passing of Suzanne. I met her as a teenager when she moved into my childhood neighborhood with her young family, and I thought they were a darling family. Her children became friends with my younger siblings. Later on my husband and I moved into her current neighborhood..She’s always been warm and friendly and had a twinkle in her eyes. I will miss her and her lovely, friendly way. Corinne Mackey Cannon

Dear All of Suzanne's Family, Thank you for such an amazing tribute through words and photos to beautiful Suzanne. All who had a hand in writing and assembling photos obviously spent many hours shining light on multiple facets and layers of her story through the generations. What is truly amazing is that you could find 21 minutes' worth of photos of a single person who was always, no matter her age or the circumstance, stunning, smiling and loving. That is how I always saw her. Suzanne was a memorable cousin -- so thoughtful and gracious, generous and caring, and exceptionally smart and creative. At one point, many years ago, when we were both at the university together in our middle age, we enjoyed discussions about our ideas emerging from studies in American literature and history. Those conversations soon gave way to a focus on family, as both of our extended families stretched far beyond what either of us anticipated, giving us plenty of material to exchange. She loved telling me about her children (no matter the maternal source) and grandchildren and certainly considered all who joined her family as equally important and loved. We are all so fortunate to have known her and been influenced by her charm and talents. Thank you for this package, though certainly the woman herself extended well beyond the limits through her complex life and actions. Thank you also for making the service available on Zoom. Jim and I are in St. George and unable to return in time, so I'm grateful that I can still see you and enjoy what you have to say about Suzanne. With much love and sadness at her loss, Kathryn
