

Trevor Jason "TJ" Helm

August 7, 1983 ~ August 4, 2024

I knew Trevor only a short while. In that time as his neighbor He found a way into My heart and I had seen something I rarely see in people. He was realistic, open and genuine. Was someone who in our deep conversations showed Me character and had such a unique power in this world. He wore His heart on His sleeve and was someone who was unapologetic for how this world felt about however He projected Himself. He was His own Man for sure. He was someone that in less than 5 minutes could win You over and had such a powerfully determined look in His eyes. Trevor always had that smile that no matter how He felt that day could light up a room with its energy. Certainly someone I'll never forget. Someone who in the short time I knew Him, could call Him a "Homie" or a "Brother" even. We spoke about a lot. Including a period not too long ago in my life when I begged God to forgive Me for taking such a precious gift from this world. My sadnesses in Trevor's passing are many, but are more than that of having lost A Man in which I felt was in a rare circle of Friends. Above all however, knowing that one of Gods greatest gifts to this world is no longer here is what I feel hurts the most. Peace and Love be with You My Brother.

I knew Trevor and Jen for many years from Sizzler when they were kids. We followed them through the years and the memories they created were so beautiful. The passion and love they had for each other is unmatched. He was an incredible man and was there for everybody. May your family and friends find peace in this difficult time. My heart aches for Jen. Trevor and Jen, we love you. You will be missed.

Trevor no doubt had a heart of gold. I am thankful to have met him. I learned so much from him. Him and Jen shared one of the most beautiful love stories and were endlessly devoted to each other for so long. Their impact will always be empowering to me and my kids.
