

Yvonne Skillman Jones

July 7, 1937 ~ December 1, 2021

Now that Yvonne is free of the troubles of this life, and of her failing body, she will be the kind and talented person she always was. She'll be able to see and greet all her family and friends who have passed before her, and have a joyful reunion. Remember her for what she truly is, a daughter of God, as well as her relation to you. I didn't know Yvonne - I only knew of her through my friends, her son Scott and his wife Deb. They both did all they could to help as Yvonne's alzheimers got worse. Even after her husband, and also her son Scott unexpectedly passed away, Yvonne was not left alone. My friend Deb, her daughter in law, continued to make sure Yvonne was cared for properly. I can only hope my own family will be willing to take care of me in my last years, as well as Yvonne has been cared for in hers.
