Beatrice Jackson White

In Loving Memory of a Remarkable Woman

February 19, 1930 – Oct 8, 2025

You'd almost always find her on her front porch, maybe humming a tune, maybe tapping her foot as she played her harmonica, or maybe just watching the world go by with that familiar sparkle in her eye. Her porch was a place everyone was welcome, a place where stories were told, memories were made, laughter was shared, and time seemed to slow down just enough to forget the rush of life.

Born on February 19th, 1930, Beatrice Jackson White, lived 95 wonderful years, each one filled with strength, love, and a dash of mischief. She was a woman who did things her own way, who found beauty in everyday life, and meaning in hard work. She raised 7 children, loved 37 grandchildren, and still had room in her heart for 72.5 great-grandchildren.

She spent her summers canning in her kitchen, rows of jars glistening like little jewels on the counter. Each one made with love, a lot of sass, and saved to be gifted at Christmas. Music, family, and food were her languages, and she spoke them fluently. From her Rose Park neighborhood to her Wayne County stomping grounds, she touched the hearts of everyone she met, welcoming them with her warm smile and quick wit.

She never liked the word "good-bye", we weren't allowed to say it when leaving her house on a Sunday evening gathering. Instead, she'd smile, maybe give a little wink, and say "windowsill." It was her way of reminding us that love doesn't end, it just moves, like sunlight across a room.

Although she leaves behind a legacy that's felt in the laughter of her family, the songs that echo in our hearts, the simple moments on a front porch, and a love we'll feel each day of our lives, we are happy to know she was greeted at the gates of heaven by so many who couldn't be more excited to see her again. Greeted with open arms by her beloved husband Lynn O White, her best friend and sister Viola, and her 7 other siblings, from her parents to the many friends who have been waiting to welcome her with warm hugs. We can only imagine the music, laughter, and love filling heaven as she's welcomed by her Lord and Savior as he looks her in the eyes and tells her she's home.

So as we read this with the many fond memories you've left us with, we aren't saying good-bye, grandma, just windowsill. Until we meet again.
