Jane Swope Page, 93, passed away on January 26, 2021 from Alzheimer's disease. She was at home surrounded by her family at her passing. She was born September 4, 1927, in Salt Lake City, Utah, the daughter of Thomas Michael and Margaret (Beattie) Swope.

Jane graduated from South High in Salt Lake City, in 1944 and then attended the University of Utah for a year. She worked as a secretary until she married Morris F. Page on June 30, 1949, in the Salt Lake Temple. They were married for 71 years. They lived in Sacramento, California for two years before returning to Salt Lake City where they eventually made their home in Holladay, Utah for the last 65 years. She and Morris had four children, Kathy, Marcy, Terry, and Steven. Her family was her life's work and she did anything she could to see to their needs.

For many years she provided daily care for her parents, an aunt, and a dear friend. Jane never stopped wanting to help others even when Alzheimer's began to steal her mind. She was always thinking of other people first and wanted to make them comfortable in her home.

She was a faithful member of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and held many callings over the years. Her favorite callings were working in the Primary, especially with the boys of scouting age.

In her later years she was able to devote time to her love of painting. She shared her gift with her family and won awards in local shows.

She was preceded in death by her parents and her brother, Thomas Beattie Swope. She is survived by her husband, Morris and four children Kathy (Paul) Chisholm, Marcy (Gary) Holt, Terry Beckstead, and Steven (Sam) Page.
