

Jefferson K Kyle

November 4, 1973 ~ December 30, 2025

Jefferson K Kyle, 52, passed away December 30, 2025, in Murray, Utah.

Born November 4, 1973, in Pasadena, California, Jefferson grew up in Clovis, where he graduated from Clovis High School as state debate champion. He earned his B.A. in Political Science cum laude from San Francisco State University in 1999. His brilliance and sharp wit made him a formidable competitor and an unforgettable presence in any room.

Jefferson built a distinguished career in film and television production, working as a location scout and manager on over one hundred projects. His credits spanned music videos for Green Day, Tupac, and 50 Cent; commercials for BMW, Toyota, and Chevrolet; and documentaries including a family oral history project close to his heart.

A gifted photographer and illustrator, Jefferson honored the sanctity of materials, transforming recycled objects into art. He loved comics—Donald Duck was a favorite—and dreamed of founding "Green Bees," an environmental venture. He adored cats.

Wiliest of minds, who forgot nothing, charismatic from birth, spirit of an artist.

Jefferson was preceded in death by his father, John Calvin Kyle III, and his stepfathers, Thomas J. O'Neil and James K. Herbert.

Jefferson is survived by his mother, Kathie Morris O'Neil; stepmother, Carol Sellers Herbert; siblings John Kyle IV, Tim Jessop, Katherine Kyle, Neil Jessop, Paul Kyle, Barry Kyle, Laura Kyle Walls, and Amanda Kyle; many nieces and nephews; and a large extended family.

A private family memorial is being planned.
