

Marissa Gomez

February 18, 1997 ~ October 30, 2021

Marissa Gomez

I solemnly swear that I am up to no good. ~Harry Potter(this is how her sister, Makayla, will always remember her)

Marissa was born February 18, 1997 in American Fork, Utah. Second born to George and Jennifer Gomez, she was always the life of the party; bringing a light into every room she entered. Always connected with friends and family, but constantly asking ‘Lemme get a bite’! Forever dancing and performing as a child, it carried into adulthood being the ‘Wild Child’ who convinced all around her to join the fun. You would be her favorite person to play with her hair (one of her favorite things to ask anyone). She enjoyed the beauty of nature during hikes, which was her favorite escape.

Marissa passed in Draper, Utah on October 30, 2021. She has joined her grandma, Patricia Glavin, and her uncle, Michael Fairchild, in her journey to paradise. Her memories will be held close by her beautiful daughter, Brinlee Dicicco, her parents; George Gomez and Jennifer Gomez,her second dad/Avu; Matt Glavin,her siblings; Makayla (Timothy) Park, John Glavin, Maranda Gomez, TJ Vea, Jayden Vea, Micah Gomez, her Auntie Shell, her nieces and nephews; CaliAnne, Alaynia, Vincent, and Malakai, and her fur babies, Roxie and PoPo. Her extended family including grandparents, aunts, uncles, cousins, and more will all continue to carry her legacy into the future.

Hey girl~ I wanted to let you know how much I love you. You brighten the room when you walk in. I love you so much. Love always, Grandma Pat

And if we don't show up that makes me a liar... and that's not what I'm about...Not now, NOT EVER! (She shared this special joke with her sister, Maranda)

Picture a place that they exists, together, there has to be a place better than this, in Heaven. So right before I sleep, dear God, what I'm asking, remember this face, save me a place, in 'Thugz Mansion' - Tupac
