

William Bernard Nowlin

March 2, 1916 ~ November 22, 2013

William B. (Bud) Nowlin, a true gentleman and man for all seasons, passed away at home in the loving care of his daughter in Salt Lake City on November 22, 2013, at the age of 97. Bud was born on March 2, 1916 to Marie and William S. Nowlin in Spokane, WA. His childhood was spent in Greenacres and later Spokane, Washington. He attended George Washington University while working for members of Congress in the 1930s. He met Lois Garff of Salt Lake City in Yellowstone during the summer of 1939. They married in California in 1941 and enjoyed 71 wonderful years of marriage together. Best friends throughout their lives together, Bud and Lois especially enjoyed the years they spent living in Palm Springs, Menlo Park, and later at Lake Tahoe after retiring. They also enjoyed the years they spent helping to raise their grandson Peter in Salt Lake City. Bud was a wonderfully gentle, considerate, generous, and supportive husband, father, grandfather, and friend.

Bud had a successful career working in the marketing and production of veterinary biologicals in the United States and Canada. His coworkers and contacts saw him as the epitome of integrity and professionalism, a legend in his industry. His generous help, kindness, intelligence, and fine sense of humor were appreciated by all who knew him.

Bud was preceded in death by his lovely wife Lois, his parents, his sister Barbara Nowlin Melton, and his brother James R. Nowlin. He is survived by his daughter Nicki Ostrom Young (John C.), grandson Peter Ostrom, great grandson Kai Ostrom, brother-in-law Reginald W. Garff (Leslie), and many loved nieces and nephews. A gathering to honor and remember Bud will be held in Salt Lake City at a later date.

The family thanks Rocky Mountain Hospice, Rolinda Guenther, and Dorothy Brown for their tender care. Online condolences are welcomed by the family at www.larkinmortuary.com
