Pete worked in agriculture most of his life, living in Santa Paula, California with June while raising their two children. "Grandpa Pete" loved his family unconditionally. He always wore a smile and made many friends over the years. He loved Mexican food, was a lifelong auto racing fan and was always up for a game of dominos or poker (which he usually won). Pete enjoyed fishing at the pier in Ventura, California, sightseeing on road trips and visiting Las Vegas and Reno, NV to play the slots. He was a kind, loving and gentle man who will be greatly missed by his family and all who knew him.
