Susan Kae Ogilvie

March 10, 1956 ~ November 30, 2021

Susan Kae Ogilvie left this life on November 30, 2021. Susan was a beloved daughter, wife, mother, and grandmother. Born at the old Holy Cross Hospital in Salt Lake City in 1956. Susan began traveling at the ripe old age of 5 months old, when she traveled with her mother to join her father in Hawaii. From there, the family moved first to Twin Falls and then to Ammon, Idaho, a suburb of Idaho Falls, before returning home to Salt Lake City when Sue was a sophomore in High School. She graduated from Skyline High School and married her sweetheart William G Ogilvie (Bill) in 1976. The two were sealed in the Salt Lake City Temple later in January 1978. She then spent the next 24 years as a military wife, traveling the country, living in California, Utah, Oklahoma, her favorite station - the island of Guam, Nebraska, Illinois, Arizona, and ending their military career where it started in California. She returned home to the Wasatch front in 2002 after Bill retired from the Air Force. Everywhere she went, she blessed those around her with her many talents. She played the piano in primaries across the country and excelled at organizing and putting on programs.

Susan worked hard to earn her bachelor's degree in accounting while she was raising her children and worked preparing taxes. She was working on her MBA at Westminster University when Bill passed away suddenly, but she persevered and graduated with her masters in April 2016.

She spent most of her life serving, especially her four children. She drove hundreds of miles taking them to school, to swimming, to dance, to soccer, and to karate. She loved them fiercely. She welcomed her children’s spouses into the family with open arms.

In 2017, after moving to Sandy, UT, Sue began spending time with her neighbor Terry Howell. Both widowed, they enjoyed each other’s company, and it didn’t take long for another love story to develop. Terry taught Sue to open her heart and love again. Susan married Terry Howell in June of 2018. She and Terry loved to travel. They discovered a love for cruising after joining her parents on an Alaskan Cruise. They enjoyed two additional cruises together, one up the northwest coast and last, a Caribbean Cruise, arriving home just before the pandemic shut the cruise lines down. They were so grateful they made it home and had not ended up stranded at sea in quarantine. Additional travels took them to Oregon, Las Vegas multiple times, Kansas City Missouri, and St George. Sue and Terry exemplified love and devotion to each other.

Susan served two missions for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. She served in the Records Operating Center, which she affectionately referred to as the “ROK.” She and Terry served together as Church Service Missionaries on Temple Square where they reconnected with old friends and family as they ushered in the Tabernacle and in the Conference Center for all kinds of events.

Susan is survived by her mother, Suzanne Nesbitt, husband, Terry Howell, children, Lynette (Zach) Justesen, Spring (Craig) Paul, William (Alexa) Ogilvie, and Kyle (Davina) Ogilvie, eight grandchildren, Carter, Dylan, Kendall, Lila, Susanna, Jack, Brightyn and Remington, sister, Cindy (Kent) Teerlink, brother, Ronald (Karleen) Nesbitt, and many loving aunts, uncles, cousins, nieces, and nephews. She joins her eternal companion, William Ogilvie, and her father, William Nesbitt in heaven.
