

Susan Patricia Adair

December 18, 1961 ~ December 24, 2025

Susan Patricia Adair was born on December 18, 1961, in Sandy, Utah, to her loving parents, Warren Richard “Dick” Adair and Patricia Donaldson Adair. She passed away peacefully in her home on December 24, 2025, surrounded by family and friends, after a courageous four-year battle with cancer. Throughout her illness, Susan faced every challenge with grace, valiance, and an unwavering spirit, inspiring all who knew her.

Susan graduated from Jordan High School, where she cherished time with her friends as a member of the Charlonian Drill Team. She remained close to her high school friends throughout her life. After high school, she worked at Valley Bank as a teller and later held various call center management positions, including roles with Discover Card and the Red Cross. She was loved and respected by all who worked with her and formed many lifelong friendships throughout her career.

Susan delighted in spoiling her nieces and great-nieces and nephews, all of whom adored her. She cherished creating special memories with them, from hosting sleepovers and birthday shopping trips to attending University of Utah events—especially gymnastics meets, which she loved deeply. Watching the meets together and hoping to appear on the Jumbotron became a beloved family tradition that will continue in her honor. A passionate shopper, Susan famously began her Christmas shopping the day after Christmas for the following year.

Susan also loved the arts. She cherished the magic of live performances including concerts and musical theater, and the time spent experiencing them with those she loved. Some of her most treasured moments were spent at Sundance with her longtime boyfriend, Steve, enjoying peaceful time together at his cabin—moments filled with laughter, rest, and quiet joy.

She devoted her life to serving others and brought joy wherever she went. She truly saw people. She listened, remembered, and cared in a way that made others feel important and understood. Her ability to remember the details of people’s lives was a reflection of how much she loved them.

She was the keeper of our family’s history and the soul of our gatherings. By sharing stories, preserving traditions, and teaching younger generations where they came from, Susan wove our family together across generations.

Susan is survived by her mother, Patricia Adair; her brothers Brent Adair, Mark Adair (Theresa), Rick Adair; and her best friend, Steve Breitling; three nieces; five great-nieces; four great-nephews; and many cousins. She was preceded in death by her father, Warren Richard “Dick” Adair.

The family would like to extend their heartfelt gratitude to Rebekah and Pearson of Intermountain Hospice for their dedication and compassionate care during Susan’s final month of life.
